Work Force

The City of Hudson is recognized as one of the best places in Ohio for businesses to locate and expand and for their employees' families to live and work. Businesses seeking a well-educated, diverse workforce will find Hudson a bountiful talent pool.

More than 66% of Hudson residents have four or more years of college, making them ideal candidates for the Hudson business community. With its ideal location in the middle of Northeast Ohio, Hudson draws workers from across the region. The Hudson workforce spans trade and service industries from technology to construction, manufacturing, government, financial/insurance and real estate. Because of Northeast Ohio's diverse population, Hudson's businesses are able to create multi-cultural experiences for employees and the community. By capturing the strengths of employees' differences and leveraging them, Hudson businesses gain a competitive advantage.
